Introduction to Karmic Astrology

The effects of past life experiences can carry over into your current life, accounting for interests, habits, even phobias which would defy explanation by conventional methods.

This report examines possible past life connections using astrological methods. It is not intended to be taken as a complete interpretation of your birth chart; it looks at your chart from only one perspective.

It is written in simple language, avoiding the use of astrological terms as much as possible. For the interest of students of astrology, relevant astrological references are made at the top of each section.

There are certain factors which indicate a need to seek further answers through past life regression. If you find reference to this within your chart, you may discover that your spiritual growth will be enhanced by using this method. (Note: Individuals with a number of these indicators in the chart have probably already experienced spontaneous regressions.)

Not all charts will indicate a need for regressions. If your report does not indicate such a need, then it is most likely that discovering your past lives through regression is of little interest to you this time around.

Thank you for your order!

Chapter 1: Most Important Prior Life Experiences

In traditional astrology, the Twelfth House represents your self-undoing, hidden matters and the subconscious process. It is believed that we carry karmic memories in our subconscious, and that these subconscious memories can undermine our current life efforts.

When we remove the walls created by subconscious fears and guilt, we find that the path to personal transformation lies beyond.

If, in your chapter you find a number of descriptions of planets placed in your twelfth house, consider exploring your hidden self through past life regression.

12th house cusp in Leo

You have considerable inner strength. Willpower and persistence are hidden beneath your surface. Your self-image is out of proportion, being either too great or too small.

Look for a significant prior lifetime in a leadership position. Your use or abuse of that position will tell you much about your current self-image. Possible areas of prior life experience may be in the aristocracy, military leadership, political leadership, actor-manager of a theater troupe, business executive, or head of a family business.

Leo 12th House, Virgo Rising

You are meticulous in every endeavor. Others see you as being practical and organized, paying attention to the smallest detail. You need to learn that not everyone is as concerned with perfection as you.

Chapter 2: Saturn (The Great Teacher)

The source of many of our self-imposed restrictions can be found in the placement of the planet Saturn. The location of Saturn in a horoscope represents the area of life where we have to learn the greatest lessons. It is through these lessons that we grow and improve.

Just like your least liked teacher in school, Saturn's lessons require hard work and self-discipline. And like the lessons from that teacher, Saturn's lessons are not easily forgotten. The lessons you learn help you to find order and security in your current life.

When a lesson from a prior life was not learned, you can experience inexplicable guilt or self-restriction. Exploration of the unlearned lessons of Saturn can free you to use all of your natural talents.

Saturn in 2nd House

When it comes to money and finances, you are a very serious person. Regardless of your true financial circumstances, you feel that you are one step away from poverty. If you do not have any material wealth, you find money difficult to come by. If you do have wealth, you are very thrifty, to the point of miserly, holding on to every cent "just in case".

You may hang on to a job because it provides steady income, even though it is not fulfilling at all. Guilt arising from prior life experiences where you or those in your charge were deprived of the basic necessities can be a great incentive for limiting yourself in this manner.

On the positive side, you can discipline yourself to adapt to any financial circumstance, thus learning the true value of money and resources in your life. On the negative side, you can continue to be fearful of losing your financial resources.

When you examine the reasons for your current behavior, you can restructure your ideas on wealth and resources. Then you can begin to rid yourself of the guilt of prior experiences.

Saturn Conjunct Mars:

Your sense of duty and responsibility in prior lifetimes enabled you to survive tedious jobs. In this lifetime, you still have a knack for detail work. Sometimes, however, you can find looking after details to be very frustrating. You may have difficulty in expressing your frustration in any constructive manner. Learn to balance mental work with physical exercise, in order to provide an outlet for your frustrations. Assertiveness training will help you to learn to direct your anger at the source.

Chapter 3: Jupiter (Your Karmic Gifts)

Personal karma is not necessarily negative. You bring to this life certain talents and interest which enable you to expand your horizons. Often overlooked for its karmic value, the placement of the planet Jupiter in your chart can tell you about your karmic gifts.

Jupiter describes spiritual rewards as well as the area of your current life where you may experience material gains.

The lesson of Jupiter is best described as the acceptance of the law of karma. The rewards you reap in this life time come from your prior life's good deeds, and your future benefits (this life or another) are the rewards of your present fair dealings and generosity.

Jupiter in Scorpio

You have strong beliefs based on deep emotional feelings. You are intensely private about your personal philosophies you have a great sense of determination and willpower.

Your prior life in a business relating to other people, such as insurance, estate planning, fund management or funerals has given you the ability to keep other people's business confidential.

Jupiter in 2nd House

You can make fortunate decisions in business matters. What seems to be luck in getting opportunities is actually good business sense brought over from a prior life, where you were involved in either real estate, farming or manufacturing of practical, necessary products.

Jupiter Conjunct Pluto:

You have experienced many transformations and upheavals in prior lifetimes. This has given you a great deal of inner strength and power. You are very strong-willed. This time, you can use your physical and psychic resources to bring about healing in yourself and others. You have such a strong will that it is easy to forget that other people have ideas and opinions as well. Temper your strength with tolerance.

Jupiter Trine Sun:

Personal philosophies developed in your karmic past have given you a great deal of self-confidence. In other lifetimes, you controlled your ego by some form of religious discipline. This time, you can benefit from your prior lives' lessons, as karmic memories are very close to the surface. You are cheerful, optimistic, courageous and sociable.

Jupiter Trine Moon:

Emotional and physical security from another life is present in your current one. Your sense of humor will carry you through trying times. You have good intuition which you may see as good judgment. You can empower others with a sense of security by providing a comfortable environment for growth.

Jupiter Sextile Neptune:

Spiritual understanding in prior lifetimes enabled you to relinquish personal power to a Greater Will. Inspiration came to you in philosophical, psychic or artistic matters. Your past life memories give you empathy and psychic gifts. You may see these gifts as providing opportunity to assist spiritual advancement in others. Use your good judgment about the proper use of your special talents.

Chapter 4: Nodes of the Moon (Your Karmic Doorways)

The point on a horoscope chart called the North Node of the Moon is not actually a planet, but can be thought of as a doorway from your current life to your future. And, its opposite point (the South Node of the Moon) can be thought of as a doorway from your past life to your current one.

These two sensitive points can show you what goals you are concerned with in this life and what habits from prior lives are holding you back from reaching those goals.

North Node of the Moon in Cancer

Struggle and hard work in prior lifetimes has left you feeling that you need to spend this lifetime in a more nurturing atmosphere. In those prior lives, you achieved recognition through your persistent efforts and you often make your work in this life harder than it needs to be.

Achievement was the primary goal in prior lives, forcing you to restrain and control yourself, emotionally and materially. This time around you are learning to allow your feelings to surface and to loosen the reins on your spending.

Since your past life's habits can surface at the most inopportune times, you are sometimes inconsistent in your spending patterns.

You have possibly spent prior lives as a prominent business person, a political leader, administrator of an institution (such as a school, prison or hospital) or in any area where discipline and accomplishment were valued highly.

In order to maintain the balance between your two karmic doorways, you need to awaken the feminine side of your being. Nurturing and your domestic life are requiring attention this time around. You have received much from others in past lives. This time you must learn to give.

Chapter 5: Planets in Retrograde (Reversed Energies)

Planets in a horoscope chart which are marked as being in retrograde motion, hide or reverse the true energy of that planet.

From a perspective of past life experiences, this usually means that some experience in a prior lifetime was so negative that the individual refuses to use that planetary energy in any manner.

Jupiter Retrograde

You are concerned with growth and expansion, but find it difficult to achieve. Success or luck may elude you.

In a prior life, you may have refused to change with the times, holding on to outmoded ideas and ideals. In each life, you learn lessons and grow. Since you chose not to make changes in one life, it is necessary for you to go through the lessons of that life again.

Your lesson in this lifetime is to determine which opportunities offered to you will create the greatest amount of personal (inner) growth and expansion. When you make your changes, success will occur on the outside as well.

Uranus Retrograde

Outwardly, you may look very conventional. Inwardly, you are unconventional. You may express your uniqueness through your ideas or your behavior. Your ideas are often so far into the future that others find you difficult to understand. You may find it difficult to stay in one place for long, or at one job, or have the same friends for long. You are in a constant state of flux, but it is directed to your inner (spiritual) being.

In a prior life, you may have exercised your freedom, without concern for the feelings or welfare of others. You may have been a revolutionary or just in the avant-garde.

Your lesson in this lifetime is to carry yourself and others forward, but with a gentler touch. Progress and advancement can be achieved when people want it, not when it is forced upon them.

Neptune Retrograde

Sometimes you find it difficult to determine what is real and what is not. You have a vivid imagination and you find comfort in your daydreaming and fantasy. Although it may not be recognized as such, you have a psychic gift.

In a prior life, you may have used illusion and delusion to take undue advantage of others. You were attracted to things psychic and may have even represented yourself as a medium or even as a magician. In this lifetime, you are still drawn to psychic and occult matters.

Your lesson in this lifetime, is to develop your real spiritual side. You may decide to use your psychic gifts for personal gain. If you do so, use them honestly, avoiding deception of others at all costs.

Pluto Retrograde

Great personal transformation is possible for you. You have experienced many upheavals in your life, but to the casual observer, the effects are not obvious. These upheavals have given you hidden strength and power, the extent of which you yourself may not be completely aware.

You have the capacity for considerable spiritual growth, and you are inclined to eliminate from your life anything which inhibits this growth.

Your lesson in this lifetime is to learn to detach yourself from others without complete destruction of your relationships.
